Ants and Men
Inge's Marriage Idea
Hormones and Youth
War, Says Briand

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

ON THE ITALIAN island of Stromboli yesterday there occurred, [illegible], a severe earthquake and a deadly eruption of the Stromboli volcano.

The earthquake destroyed some small houses. Burning rocks were hurled into the air by the volcano and fell upon little villages clustered around the base of the volcano.

For thousands of years Stromboli has been a deadly menace, and for thousands of years people have rebuilt their houses and continued to dwell at the volcano's foot.

And we wonder that ants rebuild when our feet crush their nests in the garden path.

DEAN INGE, ruler of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, startles other clergymen with the suggestion that marriage might well be tried for periods shorter than "life." The dean would allow "limited marriage contracts," and would have the government recognize them. Only "till death us do part" marriages would receive the blessing of the church.

The Rev. Dr. Mellish of Brooklyn replies that Rome tried two kinds of marriage centuries ago, short marriages for unimportant people, life-long marriages for more important people, but it didn't work.

• • •

Marriage is an institution of discipline, devised to make men better, gradually. The process is slow, but it is real.

Besides, the last years of married life ought to be the best, and usually are, in spite of divorce records.

To have, in old age, one friend interested in your troubles and your symptoms, is precious above all other possessions.

SCIENTISTS gathered in Cincinnati are told that new methods of rejuvenation, better than the Voronoff "gland grafting," have been discovered. Compounds made of mysterious "hormones" will do the work, some "hormones" being taken from glands that could never be transplanted.

The old may be made to live a little longer, but science will never discover anything better than friendly death, which removes men worn out, and makes room for new energy.

The learned Voronoff, who, by the use of monkey glands, extends the lives of old men, says "All Americans are dead at 50." He does not mean that they actually die, but that they are worn out at 50, and might as well be dead.

There is no doubt that men in America wear out early. Their eyes grow dim, hair white, step slow and knees stiff, too early.

But they GET THINGS DONE, which is more important that remaining young.

BRIAND, FRENCH foreign minister, warns Europe that, unless it establishes a "United States of Europe," WAR IS CERTAIN.

Representing the most powerful nation in the League of Nations, he no longer believes that league able to keep the world out of war. It is just as well that we kept out of the league. And if we could keep out or get out of the world court, that would be an improvement.

G. O. P. Convention Adopts Platform

LIQUOR PLANK OMITTED IN FINAL DRAFT

ENFORCEMENT PLEDGED

Hoover, Cooper Administration Policies Given Complete Indorsement.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12—Without the semblance of a fight over the prohibition question, the Republican state platform convention today adopted the platform submitted by its resolutions committee. The platform did not mention specifically the liquor question.

Several prominent Republicans threatened to take the prohibition question to the floor of the convention when the resolutions committee refused to incorporate any mention of it in the platform. However, when the committee presented its report to the convention, no one offered a protest, and the platform was adopted without a roll call. The platform calls for enforcement of all laws.

Anti-Drys Balked

Efforts of prohibition opponents to obtain from the resolutions committee a pronouncement for repeal of a referendum on prohibition met with disastrous failure.

Three votes, all cast by Cleveland members of the committee, were all the proposals could muster. Twenty-one of the twenty-two members of the committee participated in framing the document.

The plank dealing with prohibition follows closely to the plank of the Kansas City national platform and the one adopted by the state convention two years ago. It follows:

"We heartily endorse the declaration relative to law observance and law enforcement contained in the Republican national platform. We believe in the sincere observance and conscientious enforcement of the provisions of our state and federal constitutions and of all laws pursuant therto."

Platform proposals submitted by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman calling for a declaration in favor of a pre-primary convention and for four-year terms for governor and all other state officials never got further than sub-committee, composed of State Chairman Edward D. Schorr, state campaign Manager Earl R. Lewis and Homer Edwards of Ironton.

Bender Proposal Killed

A proposal by Senator Bender for reapportionment of the legislative districts also was killed in subcommittee. Bender's proposal, which also was joined in by White of Toledo, contemplated reapportionment so cities would be given greater representation in the state legislature than they now have. It contained the provisions of a constitutional amendment which Ben-

Philp, the principal speaker, for many years has been a Republican leader in Texas, where in 1914 he was the Republican nominee for governor. He was appointed postmaster of Dallas in 1921 by the late President Harding and was reappointed by Coolidge in 1925.

GAS REPORT DUE SATURDAY

Investigation on Failure of Fuel Here To Be Completed, Tharpe Says.

The partially closed valve gate at Claridon that was the primary cause of a shut-off of gas in Marion Tuesday noon was left three-fourths closed by workmen making repairs on the Marion-Mt. Gilead line in the last few weeks, an investigation of officials of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. had revealed today, according to E. M. Tharpe, assistant general manager.

In telephone conversation from Columbus today, Tharpe said the investigation, conducted by C. C. Phillips, general manager of transmission, will be completed Saturday. The exact date repairs necessitating the partial closing of the valve and probably the names of the workmen making the repairs will be available when the investigation is completed, Tharpe said.

The condition of the valve when it was unearthed by gas company officials in the presence of city officials early Wednesday morning was primarily responsible for the shut-off. Bits of iron and other particles inside the pipe had been swept toward Marion by the gas pressure until they struck the partially closed valve. The accumulation sealed the two-inch opening in the bottom of the valve, disrupting service here.

The valve has been replaced and the line blown clear of all obstructions. Gas service was restored Wednesday between 4 and 4:30 p. m.

Attorney Brandishes New Weapon Against Brewers

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Ill., Sept. 12—Through their children, state's attorney George Carbary of Kane county today brandished a new legal weapon against illicit home brewers.

Filing information yesterday that the home of Simon De Brock yielded beer and mash to raiders, was an improper place for rearing children, Carbary obtained from Judge Olney C. Allen an order placing the five De Brock children in custody of the county court.

Widely known as a determined upholder of the dry statute since the slaying of Mrs. Joseph De King in March, 1929, during a raid by agents from his office, Carbary promised further use of the new enforcement procedure in his campaign against violators.

LAUNCH PLANS FOR DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL

Naming of Special Committee for Harding Service Arranged at Convention.

EXPECT HOOVER TO SPEAK

President Likely To Give Dedication Address, Is Indication.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12—A special committee of the Republican party will be appointed to arrange a suitable date for the dedication of the Harding memorial tomb at Marion, under terms of a resolution adopted without a record vote by the state platform convention here today.

The resolution to appoint the special committee to arrange for the dedication date was accepted by the convention after an attempt was made in the resolutions committee to ask President Hoover to attend the dedication Oct. 2.

This resolution, presented by Fred W. Warner of Marion, former Republican state chairman, was thrown out when the committee said it believed that the date for the dedication ceremony should be left to President Hoover. Mr. Hoover will be in Cleveland on that date to address the American Bankers' association annual meeting.

Before the resolution finally was adopted today, Sherman H. Eagle of Gallipolis gained the convention floor and told the meeting he wanted "to call to the convention's attention the fact that the resolution was now in the hands of those not in favor of it."

Eagle made no further explanation of his statement. An attempt by Gus Hurstius of Cleveland to have Eagle ruled out of order was to no avail as Senator Fess, keynote speaker of the convention refused to squelch Eagle. After hearing Eagle's statement Senator Fess put the resolution to the convention and it was carried by viva voce vote.

Eliminate Date

The resolution inviting the president was presented last night by Warner and Senator Fess realizing that the president could not participate in the dedication on the date set by the resolution, promptly referred it to the resolutions committee.

The resolutions committee also took that view. Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, the Chairman, said, that it would be unethical for the convention to fix a date on which the President should participate instead of permitting him to fix the date at his convenience. It also was contended that the memorial commission's wishes should be consulted on the proposition, and that whatever arrangements are made should be in cooperation with the commission.

President Expected to Come

Members of the committee and other state leaders indicated that effort will be made to have the president deliver the dedicatory address. They also indicated they expected the president to accept personally and not send a representative.

The resolution calls for appointment of State Chairman Edward D. Schorr of Cincinnati, Mrs. Gertrude Jones of Findlay, vice chairman, and William H. Duffy of Columbus, secretary of the state committee as the special committee to cooperate with the memorial commission of which Senator Freylinghuysen of New Jersey is president.

"IDEAL MAN" ELUSIVE

MARY McCORMIC

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 — Mary McCormic failed to find her "ideal man"—so she'll be back singing in grand opera this year.

Last year Mary, an Arkansas village girl who sang her way to fame in the big city, was enthusiastic about a young nobleman, who, however, was married to a movie actress.

When Miss McCormic stopped off to visit her friend and discoverer, Mary Garden, she said she was looking for the "ideal man" and intimated she had found him.

• • •

BUT now she is coming back to the Chicago Civic Opera, after a few seasons in concert work.

She came to Chicago from Belleville, Ark., to study music after Miss Garden heard her sing in a church choir.

A couple of years later she was making her debut in "Carmen" with Miss Garden.

COUNCIL APPROVES ONE-MILL CITY LEVY

Tax Issue for Additional Funds To Be Put Up to Voters at Election.

A one mill levy for operating expenses of the city was placed on the ballot of the November election by action in an eleventh hour session of council called last night by Mayor L. Don Jones.

The levy must be certified to the county board of elections before Sept. 15, making Saturday the last date for this certification.

Shifting his vote that Monday night was one of the two responsible for the rejection of the proposed levy, Councilman Irvin Prettyman last night added the seventh vote necessary to suspend rules of procedure and pass the measure to its third and final reading. The levy ordinance was then adopted unanimously by the seven councilmen present.

Councilman T. J. Mead, who Monday night cast an unfavorable vote on the levy, was not present. Councilman L. E. Starr, who was not present at the Monday night session, did not attend last night's called meeting as he was not in Marion.

Had Councilman Prettyman "stood pat" on his vote against the levy, council would probably have met again tonight to give the ordinance its third reading, which would have enabled the six members favoring the measure to effect its adoption.

If passed by the voters this fall, the levy will yield approximately $45,000 annually for operating expenses in the next five years. Without this additional revenue, officials claim a curtailment of the fire and police forces and the number of street lights will be necessary. At present the city is receiving sufficient funds to operate only 10 months a year, officials claim.

The called meeting last night was not prefaced by the usual caucus session, in which city council usually threshes out a majority of its problems before taking official vote in the open meeting.

SENATOR CHANGES PROHIBITION STAND

Wheeler Comes Out in Favor of Establishing State Regulation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, Democrat, ranked among the drys in congress, issued a statement today saying he had come to the opinion "that national prohibition is a failure and that each state should be left to regulate the liquor traffic as a majority of its citizens deem advisable."

His statement follows: "I voted for prohibition in Montana, because I felt that the old saloon was a curse to the American people and I wanted to do away with it. In the old days the breweries in many instances owned the fixtures, the buildings and the license and in many instances controlled local politics.

"I am no more in favor of the saloon, no more in favor of the sale of liquor today than I was before but under prohibition you have in many cities more dives and speakeasies where they are openly selling rotten whisky than you had in the old days.

"In view of the fact that this administration and the previous administrations have apparently been helpless in stamping out the evil I am reluctantly forced to the opinion that national prohibition is a failure and that each state should be left to regulate the liquor traffic as a majority of its citizens deem advisable."

Man Who Tried To Free Canada Dies at Akron

By United Press

AKRON, O., Sept. 12—Thomas J. Brennan, 94, who was born in Ireland, fought through the Civil war, saw Lincoln shot, and once tried to free Canada with an army of 67 men, is dead here. Brennan was one of the best known old-timers in the vicinity. He was in Ford's theater when John Wilkes Booth shot President Lincoln. Brennan said he saw Wilkes escape and then saw Lincoln's body being carried out.

His attempt to free Canada from British rule resulted in disaster when many of his army were killed. He said he managed to get back to the states safely and never again bothered with Canadian affairs.

EXPECT 10,000 AT FAIR TODAY

Attendance Thursday Estimated at 8,000 by Officials of Board.

EVENT TO CLOSE TODAY

Officials Say Agricultural Exposition This Year To Be Financial Success.

Early predictions that 25,000 persons would see the Marion county fair this year were verified today by the report that 8,000 persons visited the fairgrounds yesterday. Provision was made to entertain 10,000 persons today and tonight in the closing sessions of the fair.

With attendance records running high, fairboard officials were anticipating a successful fair from the financial standpoint. Indications were today that the fair this year will not only pay its own way, but will leave a comfortable margin of profit. A Marion county fair in 1931 is virtually assured, board officials said today.

Although the fair proper ends tonight, the wild west rodeo that has been a feature of the night fair performances will hold over for an additional program Saturday at 1:30 p. m., according to Carl Sifritt, secretary of the fair board. A number of concessions are expected to remain on the grounds until that time.

School children were admitted free of charge today, swelling the crowd to the near-record proportions of approximately 10,000 persons. Fair board officials estimate by tonight 24,000 persons will have passed in and out of the fairground gates.

The stock parade was a feature of the early-afternoon fair program today. Starting at 1 p. m., the parade circled the race track, led by the Future Farmers of America band.

LIFE'S SAVINGS OF CALEDONIA WOMAN TAKEN

Burglar Abandons Satchel Containing $134, Jewelry in Cemetery.

AMANDA SMITH VICTIM

$500 Stolen from School Office Here; Caddy House at Club Entered.

Savings amounting to more than $3,000, representing a woman's attempts to provide for her old age, yesterday were stolen from the home of Mrs. Amanda Smith, 77-year-old widow resident of Caledonia.

It was the third burglary reported to officials here today. Last night $500 in cash was stolen from the safe in the office of George A. Bowman, superintendent of Marion city schools, at Harding High school.

The Marion Country club reported that equipment valued at more than $300 had been stolen from its caddy house. In five burglaries reported this week from various points in the county, loot with a total value fo more than $4,300 has been taken.

Hidden in Stairway

Mrs. Smith's life savings were stolen from a satchel hidden in the stairway of her home while she was visiting Mrs. Charles Sickel, residing just across the street.

Officials and Caledonia residents investigating the robbery this morning discovered the satchel discarded in a cemetery to the rear of the Smith home. When found, the bag contained six gold rings, a watch and chain, $100 in currency and $34 in change, which had been hidden by Mrs. Smith.

A person with some knowledge of the aged woman's habits is suspected of the burglary. Apparently after watching Mrs. Smith go to the Sickel home, the burglar pried a staple off the back door of her home. He went to the stairway where the satchel containing the money and jewelry was hidden beneath some clothes. With a key

$500 TAKEN FROM SAFE

Burglars Force Lock on Vault in School Office; Take Book Money.

Burglars obtained $500 from a safe in the office of Supt. George A. Bowman in Harding High school last night in the third of a series of school robberies in the county since the opening of the school term.

The money represented income from the sale of high school textbooks. Usually, no large quantities of money are kept about the school building, but school officials were unable to make the daily bank deposit yesterday because local banks closed in the afternoon to permit employes to attend the county fair.

Entrance to the safe in the superintendent's office, which is also headquarters for the city board of education, was effected by clipping the heads off rivets and pushing the lock into the safe.

In addition to money from the sale of textbooks, $6.12 was contained in the safe. Certificates of deposit for text books in elementary schools were not disturbed.

A broken glass in the door of the office revealed that the burglars entered the building from another point. No trace of forcible entrance at any doors or windows could be found, excepting to the superintendent's office from the main part of the building.

The burglars might have secreted themselves in the building before the doors were locked at 9 p. m., officials say.

Burglars made no attempt to disturb anything but the safe. No effort was made to enter the high school principal's office.

Waldo and Martel high schools were recently burglarized of equipment valued at $500.

City police are investigating the Harding High school burglary.

Thieves broke into the caddy house at the Marion Country club on Prospect pike shortly before dawn today and stole nearly $300 worth of golf equipment.

Sheriff John J. Francis found clues which indicated the burglary had occurred after the heavy rain which began about 4 a. m., since footprints were found in the mud near the building. At least two persons were involved in the affair, according to the footprints.

KENTON, Sept. 12—Postponement of the bond issue question in the Blanchard township rural district for another year today had been granted by the state director of education following requests presented to the department by signers of a petition who now ask that they be relieved from responsibilities entailed in the petition. Ninety per cent of the voters in that school district signed the petition asking for the extension of the first grade charter in Dunkirk High school to June 1, 1931, subject to the approval of a bond issue at the November election.

Construction of a new building was to have started early in the spring and would have been completed in time for opening of the 1931-32 school opening. Each signer agreed to support the bond issue at the election.

PLAN TO MOVE REPAIR SHOP

New York Central Will Make Change at Bucyrus Affecting 160 Men.

Special To The Star

BUCYRUS, Sept. 12 — Bucyrus' industrial circles received a severe blow Thursday afternoon, when announcement was made at a meeting of New York Central railroad executives, with local business men, of the removal from Bucyrus of the heavy repair department of the shops here to Cleveland Nov. 1.

Nearly 200 local men, mostly machinists, will be affected by the change, 40 of whom will be retained and given employment here by reason of seniority rights. The August payroll for shops here included 587 men. Departments not affected by the move include the unclassified repair department, roundhouse, storeroom department, which was recently enlarged by the removal here of store room departments from Columbus and Thurston, and the signal department.

The move has been under contemplation for three years, and was brought about because of the more highly efficient engines being used at the present time which compared with engines used formerly require only about one-third the amount of servicing. Engines used formerly required service approximately every 30,000 miles as compared to the modern engines which will run approximately 100,000 miles without repairs.

Marion County Road and Bridge Program Extensive

State Highway Department Works on Numerous Projects Here During Summer; New Paving of Harding Highway Nears Completion.

Roads and bridges in Marion county this winter will be in the best shape in years as a result of extensive work on them this summer, according to Cecil R. Leavens, county engineer.

State highways in the county have been and are being improved and county and township roads also have had their share of improvement, the surveyor pointed out. In addition, numerous county bridges either have been repaired or are under process of construction. The latter work is in charge of Vernon M. Dutton, deputy surveyor.

Work Progresses

Most important of the county road projects is the four-mile construction on the Harding highway east of the city, which will be ready for traffic by the middle of October at the present progress being made on the project by the Seneca Construction Co. of Kansas, O., which was given the state highway contract early in the summer on its $100,000 bid.

Less than a mile of concrete remains to be poured, following which the company will begin construction of shoulders. When the latter are completed, the road will be ready for traffic and will be perhaps the finest highway in the county, in Leavens' opinion.

A dangerous double curve now existing on state route 23 south of Brush Ridge will be eliminated as a result of the construction, begun this week, of a new bridge over the Little Scioto river. The contract was awarded recently to W. J. Fitzgerald of Lima at his bid of approximately $35,000.

Another dangerous curve has been wiped out on the Harding highway southwest of Caledonia, the work having been done by the state highway department. The curve has been "flattened" and widened.

Gets Surface Treatment

Surface treatment of the Harding highway from Big Island west to the Hardin county line and similar surface treatment on route 98 from the Harding Highway north to Bucyrus are other projects that have been completed by the state highway department, while route 98 south from the Harding highway to Waldo has been oiled.

The state highway department now is widening shoulders on route 4 from Newman's Bridge to a point one and one-half miles south, while a curve on the road immediately south of the bridge has been flattened and the approach to the bridge made more gradual.

Route 23 from Marion south to the Delaware county line has undergone patchwork that has in many cases leveled the macadam part of the road with the concrete shoulders where the former had fallen slightly.

County Work

Numerous county and township roads have been completed this summer, leaving only two of the former and one of the latter yet under process of construction. They are the Marion-Morrow joint county road which is being macadamized for three and one-half miles, and the Mt. Olive-Agosta road on which waterbound macadam is being placed for a distance of two miles. The township project is the Caledonia-Northern road in Scott township which already is half completed and which will be thrown open to traffic in two weeks, according to Leavens.

Four of the 15 bridges which were included in a bridge repair program started a month ago already have been completed, according to Dutton. The completed bridges are located on the Marion-Williamsport road in Marion township, the Marion-Edison road in Marion township, the Neidhart road in Pleasant township and the Marion-Cardington road in Richland township.

Four others have been completed but are being closed for three weeks while the concrete is thoroughly cured. These bridges are located on the Phillips, Klingle and Boundary roads in Prospect township, and the Fairground road in Marion township.

Other bridges now under construction are located on the Essex road in Bowling Green township and the Marseilles-Galion road in Scott township, both of which will be closed to traffic for several weeks.

SON HONORED AT PARTY

ASHLEY, Sept. 12—Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Self entertained friends from Galion, Mt. Gilead and Marion at a wiener roast Thursday night complimenting their son, Carroll Self, of Washington, D. C., who has been spending his vacation at home.

While Briand says war is certain without a "United States of Europe," France has been holding elaborate army maneuvers on the Franco-German frontier.

Fifty thousand picked troops marched and 300 airplanes roared within sight and hearing of the Germans, which did not please them or look peaceful to them.

By way of confirming Briand's statement about the probability of war, Italy enters on a 10-year project to build a "formidable army ready to cope with whatever emergency."

It is no secret that France is the emergency that Mussolini and Italy have in mind.

BIRTH CONTROL GETS W. C. T. U. APPROVAL

Suggested by Stark County Society as Remedy for Various Problems.

By Scripps-Moore Leased Wire

CANTON, O., Sept. 12—Birth control as a remedy for unemployment, child labor, crime and as a relief from burdensome taxation that is now perplexing the state and nation and discouraging home and property owners was advocated by the Stark County W. C. T. U. at its 15th anniversary celebration here today. The organization also went on record favoring prohibition and world peace.

The section of the resolution dealing with the organization's beliefs on birth controls says:

"We believe the time is here when all Christians and reformers should study the subject of birth control as a remedy for the following lamentable conditions: Ever recurring and increasing unemployment; an alarming condition, indeed; as a remedy for communism; as a relief from burdensome taxation that is perplexing state and national governments and discouraging home ownership.

Under the section of world peace the organizations states: We advocate that Aug. 26, the day on which the peace pact was signed, be made a national holiday. We endorse the movement for a United States of Europe and trust that our new member of the world court, Frank B. Kellogg will support the same.

EMBASSY STONED

Execution of Four Terrorists Results in Attack on Italian Office

By United Press

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 12—The Italian embassy was stoned last night in a violent demonstration against the recent execution of four Italian-Slovenes accused of terrorism at Trieste. Many persons were arrested.

The outburst of indignation against the executions was culminated by the call of five political parties for protest demonstrations last night. Police prohibited the demonstrations.

The political forces met despite the police ban and marched to the Italian embassy shouting protests against the Italian government and calling for the downfall of the fascist regime. Windows in the embassy building were broken by the stones.

STUDENTS ON STRIKE WHEN HOUR IS ADDED

500 High School Boys and Girls "Walk Out"; Stage Demonstration.

By The Associated Press

WATERTOWN, Mass., Sept. 12—Five hundred striking high school students, 150 of whom were girls, staged a demonstration today before the junior high school which ended only with the intervention of police.

The student group "walked out" yesterday as a protest against the action of the school committee in adding an hour to the day's program.

Today, the "strikers" appointed a committee of eight students — four boys and four girls — who waited upon Supt. of Schools Wilfred Circe. After a conference, during which the superintendent told them they were manifesting the wrong attitude, both leaders and strikers marched back to the junior high school, but refused to go in.

The school commission will meet next Tuesday and will endeavor to find some solution of the situation.

The school commission today suspended the strikers and said they would be reinstated only after letters guaranteeing obedience were supplied by parents.

Columbus Youth Killed During Gunnery Practice

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Sept. 12—Russell Lee Findlay, 19, of Columbus, O., was killed when he was caught in the mechanism of a big gun on the U. S. S. Idaho while the battle fleet was engaged in gunnery practice off the Southern California coast, it was announced when the Idaho put in here last night.

Findlay was second class seaman on the war vessel. He was almost decapitated in the accident.

Naval officers said the youth's mother arrived here last night from Ohio to attend his wedding next Saturday.

Party Record Reviewed in Platform

This summary, including all of the main points of the platform, lists the party's past performances and pledges of service for the future.

National Administration

Ohio Republicans, in convention assembled, extend cordial greetings to President Hoover, pledge to him continued support and express their appreciation of his notable accomplishment during the first 18 months of his administration. We are proud of the record of national accomplishments, which include:

Quick fulfillment of party pledges in special session of congress called for that purpose;

Constructive legislation providing governmental assistance to aid the farmer to solve his own problems;

The maintenance of the American principle of a protective tariff scientifically applied as a sound economic policy of government to make possible the investment of American capital in the employment in American business of American labor at a scale of wage which will maintain the high American standard of living;

A foreign policy insuring more friendly pan-American relations and widening the influence of America abroad without jeopardizing American security; profoundly advancing the peace of the world under the London naval treaty in which equality of naval strength with Great Britain is assured and sea armaments are limited so as to lift a burden of a billion dollars from the American taxpayer;

Efficiency Increased

The reorganization of governmental machinery and the appointment of the highest available personnel to insure greater efficiency in administration;

The appointment of a commission for the study and recommendation of better means of enforcing criminal laws and the sincere and earnest efforts to enforce all laws.

The reduction of taxes without interference with the ambitious program of construction of public works;

The development of inland waterways, public highways and merchant marine without loss of the principle of private initiative in business;

The mobilization of the forces of production and distribution, including labor and capital, in dealing with economic problems such as drouth and worldwide industrial depression;

The treatment of social problems such as the care and protection of the child, prison reform, stimulation of home ownership and constructive assistance to better homes;

These are among the leading accomplishments of the first 18 months of the Hoover administration on which the people of Ohio will speak next November.

Senators Praised

Ohio Republicans take pride in the recent elevation of our distinguished statesman, Senator Simeon D. Fess, to the national chairmanship of his party. We believe furthermore that in Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch Ohio has a worthy addition to the group of eminent men who have so ably represented our state in the United States senate. Senator McCulloch has already demonstrated his legislative ability and merits his continuance in this high place of public trust.

We commend also the splendid group of candidates presented by the Republican party for the national house of representatives, many of whom have already won distinction in that body.

State Administration

Ohio Republicans are proud of the impressive achievements of the administration of Governor Myers Y. Cooper, whose intelligence, able and aggressive leadership has given to the state a two-year record of administration meriting the continued trust and confidence of the people of Ohio.

The Pence law was repealed and an effective and constructive utilities law was written in its place.

Laws authorizing special assessments on abutting property for construction of state highways were repealed, thereby relieving Ohio farmers of the burden aggregating one million dollars per year. Special provision was made for the construction of county and township roads from proceeds of the gas tax.

A new division of conservation was created.

The election laws were revised and codified, providing permanent registration and other election reforms.

Taxes paid by foreign insurance companies were reduced, saving Ohio policy holders the sum of one million dollars per year.

Corporation franchise taxes were reduced approximately one million dollars per year.

The state library was restored and its service extended throughout the state.

Investors Protected

The Blue Sky law was revised and strengthened, giving investors adequate protection against fraud and exploitation.

Economy in government has characterized the entire administration. Increased governmental service has been furnished at a lower cost.

The time required by the industrial commission for settlement of uncontested claims of injured employes has been reduced 60 per cent.

Whole-hearted support has been given to the enactment of legislation beneficial to labor.

More mileage of hard-surfaced road has been built at less unit cost.

Every pledge made has been fulfilled. Such a record of party accomplishment by legislation and administration has seldom been equalled in the history of Ohio.

The economic disturbance which came upon the country in the latter part of 1929 was of national moment and challenged the courage and capacity of federal and state officials to prevent serious unemployment and distress.

Ohio responded with prompt action through the governor's statewide organization, providing a plan which so appealed to the federal administration that it was made a senate public document and used by the authorities over the air as a program worthy of adoption throughout the entire country.

In response to the call of the President, the present drouth situation is being handled in the same efficient manner.

Tax Program Approved

We approve the appointment by Governor Cooper of his taxation committee to study Ohio's tax needs, for the purpose of laying before the next legislature a program of taxation reform in accordance with the mandate of the people of Ohio in adopting the recent tax amendment to the constitution of Ohio.

We stand for the relief of real estate and homeowners from the heavy burden of real property tax and for the adoption of a modern and equitable tax system which will place upon intangible property its just share of the tax burden.

Believing present revenues, with honest and efficient direction of expenditures, adequate for normal development of our highway system, we declare against further increase in the gasoline tax.

Law Observance and Enforcement

We heartily endorse the declarations relative to law observance and law enforcement contained in the Republican national platform. We believe in the sincere observance and conscientious enforcement of the provisions of our state and federal constitutions and of all laws pursuant thereto.

We commend the courageous and effective stand of Governor Cooper in dealing with the grave prison problems of the state.

We commend Governor Cooper for his business-like procedure in the establishment of a modern accounting system which effects splendid economy by enabling the governor to maintain at all times the balance between receipts and expenditures including encumberances, thus complying with the law of 1921 and making it possible to avoid the serious deficit heretofore a feature of state finance.

Education

The state of Ohio has always striven to encourage and advance education. Modern life makes it necessary that every child have better educational advantages than in the past. We approve the system of state aid heretofore given and pledge continuance of such aid.

The policy of the Republican party is and always has been to assist the working man by the enactment of beneficial legislation, and we pledge a continuation of this policy.

This state was founded on the responsiveness of the soil and became rich and great through products of the farm, along with the agencies of industry and commerce. We stand committed to uphold agriculture constructively and to advance its welfare in every practical and lawful manner.

We commend the prompt drouth relief program set in motion by the state administration, and urge activities designed to restore agriculture to an equality with other industries.

Highways

The Republican party is responsible for the present system of financing state road construction and for the extending of aid in the building and maintenance of city and village streets and county and township roads.

Abutting property assessments on state highways were justly abolished by the last Republican general assembly.

During the present administration every county in Ohio has enjoyed additional state road improvements within its borders.

We commend the administration on its extensive highway program and pledge our support for a continuation of the same.

We pledge ourselves to constructive legislation that will guarantee both to the users and producers of public utility service rates that will be equitable and fair.

that fitted the door lock, he opened the door and after obtaining the loot locked it again. Nothing in the house was molested.

Kept Savings in Home

Mrs. Smith discovered the robbery at 7 p. m. when she planned to remove the bag to another hiding place for the night. Finding her savings gone, she notified neighbors who started a search.

Mrs. Smith had little use for banks during her life. All her savings were kept hidden in various places at her home. The missing money had been accumulated during a lifetime of saving to provide her with necessities after she became too old to work. She was formerly Mrs. Amanda Cross.

PEACE VIEWS DIFFER

Gulf Still Exists Between Divisions in League of Nations

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Sept. 12—The Anglo-Saxon and the Gallic points of view about the best way to insure peace were before the League of Nations assembly today with nothing to indicate that the gulf between them was any narrower than it has always been.

The cleavage, visible frequently since the World war, has appeared this time in the addresses of Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, and Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, before the league assembly.

M. Briand in an address pleaded for a federation of European states within the framework of the league of nations, involving an economic and political collaboration and disarmament preceded by guarantees of mutual security.

Mr. Henderson advanced the Anglo-Saxon viewpoint that peace is best assured through disarmament.

WAR MOTHER DIES

Kansas Woman Stricken on Trip to France to Visit Son's Grave.

By International News Service

VERDUN, Sept. 12—Mrs. Grave Kingsbury, a Gold Star mother from Smith Centre, Kansas, died at 4 a. m. today (Marion time).

Arriving here several days ago with a contingent of Gold Star mothers to visit the grave of her son, she fell ill with uremia and was placed under physician's treatment at the Verdun hospital. She failed to rally, however, and her condition quickly became aggravated. Mrs. Kingsbury was 58 years old.

The platform as adopted by the resolutions committee carries a strong indorsement of the Hoover administration reciting its enactment of farm relief legislation, the protective tariff, reduction of taxes, the foreign policy and other achievements.

Other planks called for enactment of taxation laws in accordance with the classification amendment which becomes operative Jan. 1, that will relieve real estate and home owners from the real property tax and for laws placing a "just share" of taxes on intangible property. Declaration was made against any increase in the present four-cent gasoline tax.

Governor Cooper's program of drouth relief for the farmers was commended along with all other acts of his administration.

Proposed planks calling for repeal of prohibition, referendums on both the Volstead and state enforcement acts were summarily voted down in committee.

VETS' BUREAU GIVES WAR COST SUMMARY

Toll of Man-Power and Money Reported on St. Mihiel Anniversary.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Twelve years ago today the first American army was plowing through the shell-torn farms and villages and forests of the St. Mihiel salient in a thrilling surprise offensive which electrified the world and paved the way for the end of the war.

With the conflict of the nations a confused memory to many—forgotten by others, there came a grim reminder today from the veterans bureau of just what the war cost the United States in manpower and in money.

Death claims have been paid on government insurance in 145,868 cases. A large majority of these deaths were "killed in action" cases, the result of wounds or other disabilities incurred during the war.

Veterans bureau records show that 18,156 men were permanently disabled, 6,727 are hospitalized for tuberculosis while 15,020 men are in hospitals for mental disability directly or indirectly traceable to the service.

There are 30,677 veterans bureau patients in government hospitals at present although owing to liberalized policies as to medical care for veterans all of them are not suffering with disabilities attributable to the war.

In all the veterans bureau has expended $5,256,949,000. Forty thousand beds are available to World war veterans in government hospitals completed or to be in operation soon. About $80,000,000 has been spent for hospital construction and a total of $92,450,000 has been authorized. From vocational training schools 128,223 veterans have been graduated.

The merchants whose places of business are located about Union square, New York City, have protested against the use of the square for public demonstrations, holding that such demonstrations curtail trade and cause them great business losses. It sounds reasonable. It's the exceptional riot which augments business, and riots have been the usual aftermaths of the demonstrations held in the square.

Charles C. Younggreen, former president of the Advertising Federation of America, told a gathering of business men out in Peoria, Illinois, that American business had recovered its courage and was planning for advertising expenditures unheard of in the past. It's dollars to dimes that that plan will have the hearty support and cooperation of the press of the land!

Former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, just back from Europe, intimates that his trip abroad made him a better American. If it had not, his experience would have been unique. There just naturally would have to be something lacking in the mental equipment of any American who could go abroad and return without a higher appreciation of America and things American.

100 Per Cent. Gas Service.

The interruption in the local gas service, Tuesday and Wednesday, was unfortunate. It caused the Ohio Fuel Gas company to suffer considerable trouble and expense and the company's patrons considerable expense in the aggregate and decided trouble and annoyance.

This newspaper utterly refuses to credit any possible suspicion that the Gas company was intentionally responsible for the failure of service, but, even so, it must stand responsible for the disruption of service was caused by the clogging of a valve in the main line near Claridon which was found three-fourths closed. How the valve became thus three-fourths closed, or when, seems to be clouded in mystery. That the flow of gas had been decreased for some time was indicated by the fact that the valve was stuck so fast that it required the united efforts of three men to move its cut-off.

It is not impossible that the fact that the valve was partly closed may have been in large part responsible for the failure of the company to deliver in time of extremely cold weather the necessary volume of gas to meet the local demand. It is possible that herein is the reason why the gas people have been able to give their Marion patrons, as they state it, only a sixty-five per cent. service.

But assuming that the partially-closed valve has not been responsible for the lack of volume at times in the past and that to have a 100 per cent. service it is really necessary to connect the local system with the company's trunk line west of the city by tapping the line near Green Camp, as the gas people claim, it seems to this newspaper that it would be a mighty good business proposition on the part of the company to make the connection.

If the company can give the city a 100 per cent. service, and do it without materially increasing its overhead beyond the interest charge on the sum expended in laying the connecting line, and thus increase its business thirty-five per cent., it strikes us that it is overlooking a good business proposition by not so doing, and that it would be especially good business for the reason that it would put the company in a position in which it would be acting in compliance with the state law which provides that public utility corporations must give adequate service to the communities they may serve.

If the original company could afford to run a main eighteen miles from Mt. Gilead to Marion to provide a sixty-five per cent. service, certainly the present company could well afford to run a main the six miles to its trunk line near Green Camp to handle the other thirty-five. If the gas people can thus add thirty-five per cent. to the volume of their business, it certainly would be justified in doing it as a business proposition without insisting that the community first agree to an advanced rate to secure a 100 per cent. service.

$729,000,000 Corn Loss Suffered.

A bulletin just issued by the department of agriculture in Washington states that more than three-quarters of a billion bushels of corn worth approximately $729,000,000 were burned up by the drought of July and August.

The July loss, principally in the Central West, had been estimated at 590,000,000 bushels, to which loss August added 229,000,000 bushels more, making a total estimated loss up to September of 819,600,000 bushels or 24.2 per cent. less than the 1929 production and 26.6 per cent. below the last five-year average, leaving an estimated crop of 1,893,000,000 bushels for the present year. This means that the 1930 corn crop will be the lightest since 1901, when the yield was 1,523,000,000 bushels.

While the corn growers of the Central West were the chief sufferers from the drought, as stated, they were not the only ones. Its effects were felt in thirty-three states—a great territory extending westward from New York state to the Rockies and fro mthe Canadian boundary southward to Texas.

The small grain growers were more fortunate than the growers of corn, as wheat and oats in the main, were within the safety line before the drought reached its maximum. But this can not be said for a wide variety of late crops. The announcement of the department shows an estimated decline in the potato crop of 34,000,000 bushels or nine per cent., a decline of three per cent. in beans, eleven per cent. in grain sorghums, 1,300,000 tons of hay, twenty-three per cent. in buckwheat and seven per cent. in vegetables for canning.

It was not so long ago, only a matter of a couple of months, that the agriculturists of the country were being urged to curtail production as a means of increasing the prices of their products. It was the view of professed experts that such was the one sure road to increased return from their lands. And the plan may have been a good one for, following it, each farmer, under normal conditions, would have had a crop, though a reduced one. But Mother Nature was not so considerate in her curtailment of production. The drought entirely wiped out the late-maturing crops of hundreds of thousands, leaving them without any crops at all on which to profit by the increased prices, and great loss has resulted and, in the absence of adequate relief, there may be want.

"To my surprise," Captain Wolfgang von Gronau is quoted as saying, "I did not see a single gunman in Chicago." The captain was probably looking for them to appear in uniform with guns over their shoulders.

A Sensible Proposal.

A proposal by the city solicitor of Canton, Russell H. Mack, to safeguard against obstruction of municipal growth by a revision of certain sections of the Ohio general code merits the sympathetic scrutiny of every property-owner in the state's numerous municipal areas. It advises repeal of those sections of the general code which authorize incorporation of villages by application to township trustees and an election, and seeks to strengthen other sections of the code which authorize incorporation of villages by application to the county commissioners by thirty or more electors in the territory seeking the right to incorporate. Solicitor Mack's suggestion is as follows:

"It is proposed that sections Nos. 3526, 3529, 3530 and 3531, G. C., to be repealed, leaving applications to the county commissioners as the only method of incorporation in this state. In order properly to protect and safeguard this method of incorporation in the interests of the great majority of the people in Ohio, it is proposed that sections Nos. 3517 to 3525, inclusive, G. C., be amended to provide that the county commissioners shall be without authority to permit the incorporation of any territory when such territory is situated within three miles of the then existing corporate limits of a city, without first obtaining the consent of the council of such city."

The amendment fits in perfectly with an existing Ohio law which gives city planning commissions jurisdiction within a radius of three miles outside the corporate limits.

As Canton's legal advisor, Solicitor Mack is conversant with all phases of annexation in that city's area. He admits that his proposal is by way of being a response to the incorporation of two small villages adjacent to Canton by the trustee method, as well as a safeguard against similar action by other groups to take action without a public hearing—action which may menace municipal expansion. It is not logical that thirty electors should have power sufficient to affect a city of 100,000 inhabitants, especially when they are bound to the city by common interests and problems.

By centralizing jurisdiction over village incorporation in the county commission and making it impossible for that body to give permission to incorporate where the territory lies within three miles of the city corporation limits without consent of the city council, the perennial problem of annexation could be placed on a logical and fair basis in Ohio. Cities are going to continue to grow just as they have in past years, and the growth is going to be at the edges. Every large city was once a small one, but if the trend toward village incorporation had been as pronounced two decades ago as it is today there would have been endless friction and duplication of functions.

When there is some common background on the part of the people both inside and outside the limits of the city, when both groups are confronted with the same political problems, when the outside territory is using city services and counting itself a part of the city, it is time to favor some kind of political integration.

Solicitor Mack's proposed amendment to sections Nos. 3517 to 3525 of the general code of Ohio and his suggestion that sections Nos. 3526, 3529, 3530 and 3531 be repealed is, therefore, worthy of support by every person interested in the welfare of Ohio municipalities. It is to be hoped that the Ohio Municipal league and, in turn, the Ohio legislature may see in it a direct means of simplifying the problem of political integration of municipal areas in this state.

THE MONTH OF HURRICANES.

Although the West Indian hurricane season extends from July to October, September has the unenviable record of having experienced more loss of life and property from these meteorological terrors of the South Atlantic than any other month in the calendar. The hurricane from which San Domingo is as yet only beginning to recover is but the last of a long series of September storms that have wrought havoc in the West Indian islands, along the Florida coast and as far west as Texas on the Gulf of Mexico.

A little more than thirty years ago—September 8, 1900—Galveston was the victim of what has been described as "the most terrible disaster resulting from purely natural causes in the history of the North American continent." Within the short space of five hours a hurricane, with an estimated maximum vlocity of 135 miles an hour, wiped out 6,000 lives and 7,000 buildings. The total property loss was estimated at $18,000,000. A far greater property loss—$165,000,000—was written up against the hurricane that ravaged the Florida coast from Miami to Palm Beach on September 18, 1926. The loss of life in this storm was also heavy. An estimate gave 1,000 dead, 3,000 or more injured and 38,000 homeless. The hurricane that devastated Porto Rico on September 13-15, 1928, and from which the island has by no means yet entirely recovered, was responsible for more than 250 deaths and a property loss estimated roughly at $100,000,000. A third of the people of Porto Rico were rendered destitute by this terrific storm before it left for Florida and points north along the Atlantic coast, where it caused considerable damage to property, although little loss of life.

Such are a few of the more recent storms that have made the month of September an awesome one in the hurricane belt. They struck inhabited land, and therefore made names for themselves, albeit evil ones. The number of hurricanes that originate in the same quarter, with quite as much destructive promise as those that touch land, which dissipate their power innocuously at sea, will never be known. A ship captain occasionally reports having seen traces of one. That is all. They are so natural and frequent a phenomenon in the Caribbean that the natives regard them with philosophic fatalism. When they lift the roofs off a West Indian village or lay low the farmer's crop, a sigh of thanksgiving registers the reflection that things might have been much worse. Only when a hurricane attains something like the proportions of the storm that recently cut through San Domingo does it qualify for a place on the calendar of September major tragedies. — Detroit Free Press.

Ohio, Indiana and Jefferson Davis.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Ohio omitted to take a step toward the trial of Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy, after his capture on the charge of treason—to take which she had the same grounds as Indiana, which actually did take it. But three of the northern states were invaded by any considerable force of the confederates at any time during the civil war. These were Pennsylvania, on whose soil perhaps the greatest battle of the war was fought—Gettysburg—and Indiana and Ohio—the latter two being cut by the cavalry of General John Morgan.

Governor Morton, of Indiana, contended that by invading his state through the agency of General Morgan, Davis had committed treason against Indiana and was amenable to the law of Indiana on that subject. He caused Davis' indictment and asked that he be surrendered to Indiana for trial on that subject. Other cases against the former confederate president at that time appeared likely to go untried. He guaranteed him a fair trial.

The attorney general of the United States held against Governor Morton. He contended that guilt as to treason was personal and that it could not be committed through the agency of another. Chief Justice Chase of the United States was known to be of the same opinion.

In the meantime, efforts to bring Davis to trial in a number of other places were being made, it being the general opinion that ttrial should be had in some state of the confederacy, where the alleged treason was committed. In the meantime Davis was out on bail furnished partly by Horace Greeley, and in government circles the sentiment was growing that it would be a bad thing to resurrect old troubles. It would, it was contended, hinder the work of reconstruction, to hold Davis chiefly responsible for the rebellion. He was never tried. The interesting point here is, however, that Ohio did not avail itself on the ground that her sister state used to try to have Davis punished under her laws for treason.

Nervous Disorders.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Most typical of the ailments of modern life are the nervous diseases. In these days we are exposed to many factors that contribute to nervousness.

These disturbances are not confined to those who live in the big cities. The monotony of rural life may bring an almost intolerable condition of the n er v ou s system. The normal body will resist these ailments, but if disease weakens it, some form of nervous disorder may appear.

To this condition the layman gives the name "nervousness." The medical profession call it "neurasthenia," "hysteria" or "nervous excitement." The doctors admit how very vague and inexact these names really are. But the term nervous excitement expresses it pretty well.

There is no certain cure for the nervousness that accompanies disease. It is really a symptom and disappears when the underlying disease is cured. Nervousness can not be prevented except as you prevent its exciting cause or causes.

The chief symptoms of neurasthenia are inability to sleep, and fitful sleep. There is a tendency to lie awake for hours. The victim falls asleep from pure exhaustion, just as it is time to get up in the morning.

The discordant, distracting, grating noises of a great city are bad for the nerves. Science and the law can do much to remove them. In recent months, in some of our large cities, a movement has been started toward the abatement of these disturbing noises. For instance, science is at work finding a welding process in steel construction that will do away with the din of riveting. These are steps in the right direction.

The strain on the nerves from "loud speakers" and other noises of a city are tremendous. They mean long hours of wakefulness on the part of a great many people. Such experiences are sure to undermine the health.

Worry and fear can make a man go down hill very fast. The strain and stress of modern business bring many a nervous breakdown. It requires the expenditure of too much will power to keep steady nerves under these conditions.

Nervousness comes to all ages and to both sexes, but it is more common in women and children than among men. It is most likely to occur among those who are brought up in idleness and luxury. Persons who earn their daily bread and have wholesome work to do are the better off when it comes to this test. It is a good thing to live a simple, useful and profitable life.

The victim of neurastenia should have a change of scene in a restful place. Congenial companions, agreeable diversions, new sights and thoughts pave the way for better mental and physical health.

Normal, sensible living for every man, woman and child means sound nerves and healthy bodies. Let us avoid neurasthenia by sensible regulation of habits, restriction of hours of labor and the taking of proper relaxation and rest.

Sir J. J. Thomson.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Modern work in mathematics, physics and chemistry has been of a basic, a foundational character. Investigators have been forced to reexamine the origin of things, to reexplain the elemental substances and principles indispensable for the construction of the universe. Einstein discovers laws of nature of which Newton's formulations are but special cases.

Planck upsets the principle of continuity through the discovery of the energy quantum. J. J. Thomson discovers the primordial substance out of which all matter is made. As Bernard Jaffe says in "Cruicibles," Thomson has given to the world its knowledge of the smallest entity in the whole universe.

This tiniest of all things is omni-present. It has helped build the atoms, the molecules, the stars. From the simplest atom of hydrogen to the mighty star, bright red Betelgeuse, 100,000,000,000 times larger than our earth, the electron is part of all matter. In all the universe, 600,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles in circumference, the commonest thing is the busy little electron.

Joseph John Thomson was born near Manchester, England, on December 18, 1856. Prevented from pursuing the profession of engineering, one of the finest expressions of applied science, he turned—fortunately for the world—to pure science as a second choice!

After studying first at Owens college, Manchester, Thomson went to Cambridge and was graduated from Trinity college in 1880. Becoming a fellow at Cambridge that same year, he plunged at once into the study of radiant matter, the strange, mysterious substance recently brought to life by Sir William Crookes.

At the Cavendish laboratory, where Clerk-Maxwell had done his epochal work in electromagnetism, Thomson—who was familiarly known as "J. J."—profoundly impressed his fellow-workers with his ability and skill.

When Lord Rayleigh, who had succeeded Clerk-Maxwell as director of the Cavendish laboratory, resigned his post, he recommended the brilliant Thomson, then only twenty-eight years of age, as his successor! "Shades of Clerk-Maxwell," exclaimed one sceptical professor, "things have come to a pretty pass in the University of Newton when mere boys are made professors." The choice was abundantly justified in the event.

The triumph which enabled Thomson to lay the foundations of contemporary electrical theory regarding the constitution of matter, was his discovery that the smallest particle of matter is not the atom, but the negatively charged particle called the electron. He demonstrated that the mass of the electron is less than 2,000 times that of the atom of hydrogen, the lightest substance hitherto known. He set in motion the immense and far-reaching series of researches associated with the names of Rutherford, Moseley, C. T. R. Wilson, Bohr and Millikan. Both individually and through influence upon others, Sir J. J. Thomson has been one of the most creatively stimulating physicists of our time.

The Dancing Silhouette

BY NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

SYNOPISIS

Seeking to prevent the marriage of his adopted son, Jack, to Elsa Chase, beautiful crippled girl, guest at his Washington home, Arnold Winslow, wealthy retired lawyer, enlists the aid of G. Thorne, detective, to vertify his belief that Elsa is an adventuress. Winslow brings Dr. Paul Kane, surgeon, to examine Elsa, who seems frightened at the prospect, but consents. Later that night Dr Kane is found dead on the ground under his bedroom window. An autopsy proves he died of poison instead of the fall. The news has a conconcerting effect on both Elsa and the elder Winslow. Jack asks his father for $10,000, refusing to say what it is for. The elder Winslow makes disparaging remarks about Elsa, and Jack, in a rage, chokes him. That night Mrs Winslow tells Thorne and Dr. McLane, the family physician, that her husband has had "another heart attack." Thorne asks McLane why Kane was brought to examine Elsa instead of MccLane himself.

CHAPTER 10

The Dancing Silhouette

McLANE looked at Thorne in some bewilderment. "I know nothing of that," he admitted. "Kane ranked very well as an orthopedic surgeon, and he is an old and intimate friend of the family; they have spoken of him very often. Such a case as Miss Chase would be right in his line for treatment probably." He stood up. "Can I take you into town?"

"If you will."

McLane turned with Thorne and toward the front door. His car was parked in the driveway close at hand, but it was not until the two men were seated and the car in motion that Thorne voiced his thoughts.

"A beautiful mansion, doctor," he said, pointing to the house gleaming white through the darkness. "A white sepulchre which in the past 24 hours has witnessed a dastardly murder and seen its owner almost choked to death—now, has the last event any bearing on the first?"

"Ask me something easy," groaned McLane as he started the engine. "Mrs. Winslow informed me that only she, Miss Chase, the nurse and the servants were in the house when Mr. Winslow was taken ill and Lambert corroborated her statement."

Misss Kline waited in the hall until she heard McLane drive away before returing to her room; from there, after attending to several minor matters, she went to Elsa Chase

"Young Mr. Winslow isn't in the house," she said, laying her hand on her patient's shoulder with a soothing gesture. "Lambert claims he left immediately after our talk this afternoon."

Elsa's expression grew more troubled. "I cannot understand it," she declared, and her lips trembled. "Jack has never failed to see me whenever he was here, no matter how short the time. Are you sure, Alice, he didn't come when I was asleep?" As she nodded assent, Elsa leaned back wearily and with a sigh picked up her book.

"Please don't start reading," begged Miss Kline persuasively. "You can do that after you are in bed."

"But I wan't to sit up longer," objected Elsa, raising troubled eyes to her nurse's. "If I hear Jack come, I can wheel myself into the music room.

But Miss Kline shook her head. "Lambert is going in town for the night, he is waiting now to help me put you to bed.

"Let him go," with a touch of angry impatience. 'I intend to sit up and see Jack; you can elevate this chair so that I can lie full length on it."

"You won't be comfortable."

"What do I care!" with a quick shrug of her shoulders. "Go, Alice, and tell Lambert not to wait any longer. Will you be all night with Mr. Winslow?"

"Oh, I'll be back and forth." The nurse paused and looked anxiously at Elsa. "I don't like to leave you."

"Alice, you old stupid!" Elsa straightened up as best she could and kissed the nurse warmly. "Go along and don't worry about me; I have everything I could possibly want right here."

The servants' wing was attached to the big mansion by a long corridor. Carrying out Mrs. Winslow's ironclad order a dim light was always kept burning there, and in all hallways, throughout the night, for if she had immediate need of her maid at any hour, the servant would not be afraid to come through a lighted house.

It was no such summons which had brought Lucy, the housemaid, creeping along it that night, however. It was far after 1 in the morning, and nothing but dire necessity had gotten the girl out of a warm bed. With stealthy fingers she unlocked the side entrance and stole around the house, the letter she wished to mail clutched tightly in one hand. The rural letter box was close to the road and Lucy covered the distance with fleet feet; she had arranged with the milkman, a devoted admirer of hers, to take any letter he might see sticking from under the cover of the box.

One of Mrs. Winslow's peculiarities was having the milk left at the entrance to Oaklands instead of placed outside the kitchen door; the noise of the milk wagon coming along their driveway had awakened her for three mornings consecutively when they first occupied the mansion and she persuaded her husband to build a small concrete platform and shelter for the milk bottles next the rural mail box.

Lucy placed her letter where it would be sure to catch the milkman's eye, and then with a lighter heart she ran back to the house. Istead of sticking to the graveled path, she cut across the lawn, head down, hugging her coat up about her throat and across her chest. Coming from behind a clump of evergreens, she caught sight of a gleam of light on the ground before her and glanced toward the house.

Even as Lucy looked the light grew brighter, and against the yellow shades, which were pulled down on all the windows of the room, appeared a shadow; it grew in size, but as it piroutted this way and that, the horrified girl was unable to decide whether it was man or woman. One moment the silhouette assumed giant proportions, then shrank to normal size; suddenly its movements grew intensified, body and arms whirling in a mad rhythm of motion.

Haltingly, step by step, Lucy approached the terrace, then the whirling body swung around, the arms were out-flung—and she saw beckoning clutching fingers. With a terrified moan, she staggered backward and fled to her bedroom in blind, unreasoning panic and cowered under her bedclothes

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

WE will be glad when it is a week from today, because it will be a school day and the next day will be Saturday. I was thinking about school days when me and Jubilee got out of bed, and my face must have looked so sorry that Jubilee looked up in my face with tears in his eyes and whined, and that made me laugh, so then he began jumping around and wagging his tail, and I got his rope and let him down, and I said that I bet the man that got wet yesterday was too good a sport when he was a boy to gripe because he had to go to school. So I am going to like school this time, as much as I can. But I bet that isn't going to be very much.

When I had done my work and the bunch was waiting for me while I fed my face Youniss and Maggie and Feeble came in, and Youniss said that her mother thought that all of us children that had spent such a happy summer together ought to have one more picnic before school opened, and she had made up a basket of weenie sandwiches and bottles of milk and paper cups and cake and stuff and we'd take it to the bank of the creek when we went to the pasture and have a good time. So I carried the basket, because if I let anyone else they would be poking dirty hands into it. When we got there we waded acrosst the creek and sot down between the creek and the fence to the woods where it is shady, and we were eating the pie which had been put on top so it wouldn't mash, and a voice said, "Good morning young gentlemen and young ladies," and we looked around and a raggedy man was leaning over the fence and he lifted his hat and smiled; and we all liked his looks, and Youniss saw him looking at the basket, and she got up and we all got up, and she asted him if he wouldn't share our lunch with us, and he said he would be delighted, and he jumped the fence, and came over and he was offal hungry. He almost swallowed the sandwiches whole. Then he pored him a cup of milk, and just as he was going to drink it he looked down and a skinny old tramp cat was rubbing against him, and he aimed a kick at it and it skun out, and then he was pouring another cup full, and something else came out of the woods and we all started to back away because it was a skunk, and when it got close to him he saw us looking, and he just glanced down, and then he turned and aimed a kick at it that hit it under the chin and it went up in the air, and it must have shot him whilst it was in the air. It was certainly a good shot. We all legged it acrosst the creek and acrosst the pasture, and the man jumped in the creek and rolled over and over. Then he started taking off his clothes and we left the basket and everything there. I am glad he got a lot to eat before the skunk came. But that was what he got for being cruel to a cat.

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Feels That the "Annoyances" Were Worth While.

As I looked at Mary's happy face and heard the caroling note in her voice as she said she never had been so happy in her life I forgot all the annoyances which had been mine during the preparations for the party we were giving her the first she ever had had.

Edith Fairfax's attempts to make Dicky jealous because of the flowers sent by Mr. Veritzen, and my employer's continual sounding of the personal note to me — even these I told myself were bearable, if I could keep that ecstatic look in the face of my husband's lovely young niece.

"You needn't be afraid any longer," I told her, smiling. "You aren't going to be late. You have what I've you call 'scads' of time."

A Gibe Without Malice

Her tenseness relaxed into a laugh.

"I know I'm the prize idiot," she said, that I never was so excited in my whole life."

"It is a sign of idiocy to be wildly excited over your first party," I began—

"Then there have been an awful lot of morons in the last thousand years or so," she finished with a comic grin at me. "Oh! but my dress is too adorable to wear. It ought to be put in a glass case. Will you help me get it on. Auntie Madge? I'm afraid of rumpling this triumph of the hairdresser's art."

She gestured toward her coiffure, and then gave a little exclamation of dismay.

"But you even haven't had your hair done, have you,' Auntie Madge?"

I took off my hat, and smilingly, displayed the pins of a 'water wave concealed beneath it.

"Blessed be close hats," I said. "I had this done 'between times' today and the woman is coming back in a few minutes to finish the job."

She sighed with absurd relief, and I realized with a little tug at my heartstrings that she was as concerned for my creditable appearance as she was for her own. "But will you have time to dress?" she asked anxiously.

"Plenty," I assured her. "You're all ready except your gown, aren't you?"

"Absolutely," she said.

"Then don't put it on just yet. Instead slip on one of those sleeveless cotton morning frocks—I'm all ready. I'll put on one, and then we'll slip on our motor coats and go downstairs to look over the dining room. Mr. Veritzen has planned a surprise for you in the dinner decorations, but it won't be in place until half after five."

"For me?" Mary echoed. "Yeah?" She drawled the word with gay impertinence, but there was no malice in the gibe, and she hurried on before I could reprove her. "But how perfectly spiffy! I'll bet it's a hummer, too. He never bakes a cake without putting at least three extra layers of icing on it. We won't have to stay long down there, will we? We want to be in the living room, here, before the first guest gets here. Have you seen the way Mrs. Underwood has fixed up your living room and hers? Aren't they adorable?"

An Untimely Awakening

"I haven't seen her apartment, but ours is certainly all you say," I told her, truthfully, for Lillian had been busy with the rooms where we were first to receive our guests, and to which they could come back after dinner and during the dance. I had sent her up some of the superfluous flowers, for I found I could not possibly use all that Philip Veritzen had sent, and she had disposed of them to great advantage. When I finally was ready for my gown, I gave the last touches to my room which was to serve as a dressing room for the girls, and then went through the apartment, finding everything in place. I was careful not to disturb Dicky, for I knew that he would have time to dress—with his usual swiftness—before it was time for the guests to come, and I did not wish to risk his knowledge of my appointment with Mr. Veritzen to look at the "surprise" dinner decoration. I had skirted one danger, and scored a triumph when he agreed to my wearing Mr. Veritzen's corsage—in company with all the other feminine guests—instead of his own. But what his reaction would be to this meeting with my employer, I feared to guess.

Purnell's knock sounded on the door just as I had finished my inspection of the apartment.

"Mr. Veritzen asked me to tell you that the dinner table decoration has come," he said.

"Tell him that Miss Harrison and I will be right down," I said, speeding him with a tip.

"Come Mary," I said softly at her bedroom door. "Get into your motor coat. We're going down to the dining room, now."

"Madge! Madge! Where are you?"

'BUY AT HOME,' CANADA URGES

Slogan Broadcast in Campaign To Combat Outside Competition.

Editor's Note—This is one of a series of articles on the special session of parliament in Canada and its relation to affairs in the United States, written by George R. Holmes, International News Service correspondent.

* * *

(Copyright, International News Service)

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 12—Canadian nationalism, born during the war and permitted to languish during the last few years of "easy times," has experienced a rebirth since the Bennett Conservative government was voted into power a month ago.

Confronted with the challenge contained in the new American tariff law, the "buy in Canada" movement has been aggressively revived since July and throughout the dominion today there is an energetic campaign on to buy only those goods that are manufactured in Canada and which thus do not carry the duties imposed by the Smoot-Hawley bill.

The new parliament, now in special session, is expected to enact compensatory duties against American goods within a month but this legislative fact has not served to deter the Nationalist forces from agitating remedies of their own to meet the situation.

Slogan Broadcast

And one of the foremost remedies proposed is "buy in Canada." The press is filled with it, editorially and otherwise. Great Canadian concerns, long suffering from American competition, have adopted the slogan as their own. "Buy in Canada" flaunts itself from billboards and newspaper advertisements at every turn.

A remarkable suggestion has been advanced editorially by the influential Vancouver Sun. Editorially, and by paid advertisements in other Canadian newspapers it advocates the placing of a tariff duty on the American advertising that is carried in newspapers and periodicals. This suggestion is linked up, of course, with the "buy in Canada" movement.

Editorially the Sun has flooded Canada with this:

"One reason why the job of interesting Canadians in Canadian-made goods is so difficult is that Canada is annually flooded with millions of dollars worth of American advertising, arousing and creating an appetite and desire for American goods.

Creating "Appetite"

"Strangely enough, the Canadian government places a duty on American goods, but places on duty not restriction on the American advertising that influences the buying of those American goods. And once a real appetite or desire is created, no reasonable amount of duty will prevent people from satisfying that appetite.

"Last year $200,000,000 was spent by American firms in American magazine advertising. Two percent of the circulation of those magazines came to Canada. American magazines boast that they cover Canada. Four million dollars worth of American advertising entered Canada duty free. To those who understand modern business it is very clear that four million dollars worth of American advertising circulating in Canada is one sure reason why Canadians last year spent in the United States $900,000,000 of their money."

Marion To Have Place in Book Now Being Written by Chinese Lindbergh

MARION is one of the cities [illegible] be mentioned by [illegible] Chinese good-will [illegible] a book on which [illegible] is now working, "Seeing Amer[illegible] Chinese Eyes," he said [illegible] while on a brief visit [illegible]

Huang, who was educated at [illegible] and Columbia universi[illegible] made a good-will [illegible] United States, for [illegible] known as the [illegible] Lindbergh, an appellation [illegible] smilingly denies.

Marion Well Known

"Two of the biggest reasons why it is so well known is first, because it was the home of the late President Harding, and second, because it is the location of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. The city is, therefore, known in China because of the late president's connection here and because China uses many of your steam shovels in building railroads and in other engineering projects."

Huang stopped here to see George Whysall, manager of the Marion Water Co., who was president of the Chamber of Commerce when the Chinese "ambassador" addressed that organization last year. He also wished to see Charles Whysall, a son, whose interest in flying established an acquaintance between the two men when Huang visited here.

The Chinese also told of meeting numerous Marion young people at Lakeside recently, where he was one of the speakers on this summer's program.

Gives Lectures

Huang has been traveling throughout the country giving lectures on China, whose destiny in recent years has aroused much interest in America, he says. When back in China, he gives similar lectures on America in an effort to create a better understanding between the two countries.

China is making a serious effort to play a more important role in world affairs, according to Huang. From 1840 to the beginning of the twentieth century China was undergoing an awakening process, stimulated by foreign powers, while for the next decade or so the country was the subject of the varied experiments of these outside interests. Now China is seeking to pull herself together on her own accord to exert an influence on the world, he said.

His country does not face a real peril in Communism, although the Soviets are trying to gain greater power, he asserted. He predicted the Red menace would not endure long in China.

Country Large

The tremendous size of the country, both in population and in area, is beyond comprehension of the average American, according to the good-will ambassador. China has 500,000,000 people, four times that of the United States, and has an area twice that of this country. The distance from Canton to Peiping, which an American might guess would be short, is in reality 3,800 miles, he pointed out.

Huang did not come here yesterday in his airplane, which he shipped back to China last year after making his good-will flight. He will return to China soon to complete publication of his book, which will appear first in Chinese and later will be translated to English, he said.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS FAIR RACE

BECKY BEAL BEATS QUEEN ABBY IN 2:12 PACE, FEATURE RACE

Steve Watts Takes Three Straight Heats in Slow 2:12 Trot.

BY BOB ELLIOTT

One of the best crowds in the history of Marion County Fair racing sat through some five and a half hours of entertainment as five events were run off during the second day of the program yesterday afternoon. After Steve Watts had trotted to any easy three-heat triumph in the 2:12 trot, the opening feature, the spell of the straight heat winners began to be broken and close finishes became the order of the day.

Only four horses faced starter Vic Peters in the first event but he had a terrible time getting them off. The Sifrit gelding was too good for the other three starters in all three heats. San Guy, from the Briggs stables in Washington C. H., ran second in all three heats but was never good enough to seriously threaten the Watts.

Class of 2:12 Pace

Queen Abby and Becky Beal were easily the class of the 2:12 pace. The latter took the first two heats only after strenuous opposition from the Smart horse who came through in good shape to capture the final heat and second money. Becky Beal won the first heat thanks to getting the pole over Dr. Volo, the pole horse.

The second heat was all Becky. She ran the first quarter in 33, the half in 1:06½. Queen Abby tried to get out of a pocket on the stretch but couldn't last long enough. Becky Beal got off to lead in the third heat but The Queen took over the lead in a beautiful stretch drive by Smart and won easily when Becky broke right in front of the wire.

Ten horses went for the money in the first division of the 2:24 trot with General X, a gelding from the Meyers stables at Marysville winning the first two heats and the race easily. Peter Lou after finishing a poor fifth in the first trip advanced to second in the second trial and won the third heat to take second money. Max B went into the lead in the first heat on the stretch but broke and General X came through to win.

Takes Win Easily

The General won the second heat easily and apparently had the third heat won but broke right in front of the finish line, Peter Lou edging in to win.

Marty Marie driven by Hoker took the first and last heats of the second division of the 2:24 trot to take first money. Guy Cox led the first heat up to the stretch but Marty was too strong and won easily. In the second heat Hazel Simmons and the first heat winner came down the stretch in a dead-heat finish with the former winning by a nose.

Hoker had a fairly easy time in the final heat. Hazel Simmons got off to a good start then broke badly on the first curve and continued to do so all the way around. Guy Arlon, driven by May finished second to Marty Marie this trip.

The record field of the entire meeting faced Peters in the fifth event, the 2:24 pace. Fifteen horses tried to get away and after several attempts at starting, Peters let 'em go and Lady Bondeer got the pole and led all the way to win the heat. She repeated in the second and third heats, nobody giving

FOOTBALL FANCIES

As a confirmed midget golf master fondles his putter or Primo Carnera regards his $250 made-to-order supersuit, so does the average Sport Bug look forward to America's football season. Spring and summer have their baseball, boating, swimming and track athletic allure but the autumn—with its browning woods, burning leaves, and crisp night air even in the afternoon—ah, that provides nature's setting for the gridiron season! Rough that game; yes, dangerous but—the manliest and most thrilling of all our sports in several dramatic respects.

Right now many teams are engaged in preliminary practice throughout these hot Indian summer days. Perspiring hours as the boys fall on the ball, boot it far through the sunny haze, or tackle the dummy — that straw-strew, sandy start of more muscle-bruising days to come.

Wonder what this season will bring forth to command our grid's headlines! For the present, let's limit ourselves to the backs and to last season's immediate memories. Albie Booth, of Yale, is back for his third year and so is Barry Wood, of Harvard—arch rivals, if ever there were such! A dozen other potent superstars will return, and from hundreds of last year's freshman teams a score or more of other greats should emerge. But sport bugs will miss these titians of immediate yesteryear:

Ralph "Pest" Welch, of Purdue, who confounded Harvard as a sophomore and who reached back field heights many times thereafter. He's a young grid grad now. So is Bronko Nagurski, Minnesota's human bull in the line or back of it who more than one expert tabs as "a greatest football player of all time candidate." Then there's Christian Keener ("Red") Cagle, West Point wonder for three seasons—the Sport Bug expects to see him often in the press stand this fall, for this former halfback extraordinary is now a sports reporter. Besides, we think of Glassgow, of Iowa, another "perfect back" (not listed at Hollywood or on Broadway), and a score of others who made the fall of 1929 so thrilling.

Come on, Mr. 1930! Bring on a few more Nagurskis, Cagles, Welches or Glassgows! Get busy right now! We want to see, read or hear about them!

VANCE HANDS CUBS THIRD WALLOPING AS CARDS DOWN GIANTS

Chicago May Find Going a Little Better with Lowly Phillies.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis and Brooklyn again were triumphant yesterday in the National league race and placed themselves only a half-game behind the leading Cubs. The Robins made a clean sweep of their three game series with Chicago as Dazzy Vance turned in a third successive five-hit performance to give Brooklyn a 2-1 victory. The Cards, with Chick Hafey's first-inning home run as the deciding factor, again defeated the Giants, 5-4.

As the Cubs moved today to the safer regions of Philadelphia and the Giants and Cards remained in New York for a final clash, the race shaped up this way:

	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.
Chicago	80	59	.575	—
St. Louis	79	59	.572	¼
Brooklyn	80	60	.571	½
New York	77	62	.553	3

Vance Fans 13

Vance fanned 13 Cubs. Hack Wilson's 48th home run of the season, a clout over the right field wall in the seventh inning gave the Cubs their first run of the series. In the first inning Glenn Wright smashed the ball into the left field bleachers after Herman had walked to give the Robins a head start that Chicago never overcame. Guy Bush, who allowed Brooklyn only eight hits in seven innings, was the victim.

After Adams had singled and Frisch had walked in the opening inning, Hafey of the Cards made a home run. The Giants overcame that lead in the fifth inning and made another comeback in the seventh, but they failed in their third attempt after the Cards had scored their fifth run, leaving the bases filled when the game ended.

Pittsburgh took a tight game from the Boston Braves, 5 to 2, although they were outhit 11-8, while the humble Phillies made it a clean sweep against Cincinnati by slugging out a final 15 to 7 victory.

The Philadelphia Athletics had a day of idleness and a half game was presented to them by their rivals from Washington and New York. The second place Senators dropped a second straight encounter to the St. Louis Browns.

Yanks Drop Out

New York's Yankees all but dropped out of the race as the Cleveland Indians turned on them after two beatings and hammered out a 9 to 5 victory behind the steady pitching of Clint Brown.

Ted Lyons, veteran Chicago hurler, went 12 innings in the remaining game to win his 21st victory of the season, defeating the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 3.

New York Youngsters Meet in Court Tourney

By The Associated Press

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12—Two New York youngsters still in their tens shared the semi-final round of the national tennis championship today with the one and only William T. Tilden, 2nd., and the strapping young California giant, Johnny Doeg.

Frank Shields and Sidney B. Wood, 19 and 18 respectively, found themselves face to face in one of the semi-finals while in the other were Tilden and Doeg. In five hard-sets in the identical round of last year's championship, Tilden beat Doeg.

LEFT-HANDED KING

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12—Gordon Murry of Cleveland, was hailed as the undisputed king of the left-handed golfers of the Cleveland district today, after winning the annual southpaw tournament by a wide margin over 25 competitors on the Lakewood club course yesterday.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Dazzy Vance, Robins—Held Cubs to five hits, struck out 13, and won 2-1.

Chick Hafey, Cards—His homer with two on aided in 5-4 defeat of Giants.

Ted Lyons, White Sox — Went route against Red Sox to win 12-inning decision, 4-3.

Sport Slants by Alan J. Gould

MARIETTA College, Ohio, ambitious to take its place in intercollegiate rowing competition next year, has invited Washington to race there on the way East to Poughkeepsie. Ellis McDonald, former Washington captain and stroke, has coached inter-class crews in developing the sport at Marietta. He thinks Ohio State university may take up rowing to add mid-western rivalry and interest in a college sport confined largely for years to a handful of seaboard colleges.

"WHO is the outstanding rookie of the year?" asks an inquisitive observer of the major league scramble, adding that he would like to know if there has been a better find in 1930 than Senor Lopez, the Cubanola backstop of the Brooklyn Robins.

Our National league scouts report Lopez stands well up at the top of any list of newcomers, that he has had more to do with the sensational rise of the Brooklyn than any other individual outside of possibly Glenn Wright at shortstop. But Wright does not enter into this debate since he is distinctly a veteran.

The Robins uncovered another new star in Ray Phelps, the right-hander who has formed a great battery with Lopez. Finn and Slade, the keystone kids, also rank among Brooklyn's discoveries.

The Boston Braves picked up two able recruits from the Pacific Coast league in Wally Berger, the siege gun, and Buster Chatham at third base.

Cincinnati acquired an important pitching find in Bennie Frey, also a new infielder in Tony Cuccinello. The Phillies picked up a slugging first baseman in John Sherlock and the Pirates bolstered their initial sack with another recruit, Gus Suhr, from the San Francisco Seals.

The outstanding "finds" in the American league for 1930 included "Speed" Mahaffey, Portland right-hander with the champion A's; Tom Oliver, Red Sox outfielder from the Southern Association; Ben Chapman, new Yankee third sacker, from St. Paul; Chief Hogsett, Detroits' Indian pitcher; and Smead Jolley of the White Sox.

Taking all factors into consideration, Lopez seems to be the outstanding newcomer of the season, with Berger not far behind. Lopez can hit at a .350 clip or better and he is a brilliant workman behind the plate.

M'LARNIN CONTINUES CHAMPION-WHIPPING RECORD AGAINST AL

Singer K. O.'d by Jimmy in Third Round of Non-Title Scrap.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—Jimmy McLarnin is piling up some sort of a record for whipping champions.

In every division from the flyweights to the welters, 23-year-old Jimmy has bowled over seven champions, either before or during their reign but never has he won a championship, all of his victories being overweight affairs.

Champion number seven fell before Jimmy's cannonading last night in the Yankee stadium when Al Singer, baby king of the lightweights, followed in the ways of Pancho Villa, Fidel La Barba, Kid Kaplin, Jackie Fields, Young Jack Thompson and Sammy Mandell. Singer took the count in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout, lying face down.

The third round told a different story. There was no indication that Jimmy packed a stick of dynamite in those two small but tough fists as the round opened. Singer went about his business of alternating boxing and slugging, his plan of battle in the first two rounds, but suddenly ran into a terrific left hook to the head.

Quick to take advantage of the opening, McLarnin rushed to the attack, swinging a volley of rights and lefts to Singer's chin. Al took four blows and his knees buckled. He went down on his back, rolled over on his face and kicked his feet in an effort to rise.

At the count of nine, he was back in the middle of the ring, wobbling but game. McLarnin, thinking he had won, turned his cartwheel of victory, coming up to receive a glancing blow from the weakened Singer. Jimmy taking one step backwards, stood flat-footed, carefully measured his opponent and then let loose with a straight overhand right—a blow that crushed the hopes of the lightweight champion to gain added prestige by going out of his class.

New York Scrap Gets Net Gate of $133,700

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—Al Singer and Jimmy McLarnin each earned about $33,425 for their eight minutes of battling last night.

Each received 25 percent of the net gate.

Some 27,000 spectators paid $152,000 gross, which with taxes removed made the net gate about $133,700.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT NEARS COMPLETION OF EARLY ROUNDS

Herr-Wolfinger Match on Saturday Attracting Attention of Fans.

With three days of play behind the Steam Shovel county tennis tournament is progressing rapidly toward the completion of the first round of the men's singles. Three matches are carded for tonight and probably four or five for Sunday afternoon in addition to several doubles' matches.

Interest is being shown in the coming Wolfinger-Herr match Saturday afternoon on Court No. 1. The winner of this match will be a strong favorite to advance into the semi-final round. Herr, who is from Galion, has met and defeated Ted Cunningham, ace of local courtmen. Wolfinger's ability is well known. This match is scheduled to start around 4 p. m.

After three forfeits in Tuesday's matches, two out of the three matches scheduled for Wednesday were played. T. M. Cunningham eliminated Orr, 6-1, 6-3; Walter Long defeated H. Lindsey, 6-1, 6-3, and Bob Stoltz forfeited to John Bartram.

Yesterday Cline and Seifert battled through two hard sets before darkness put a halt to the proceedings. They have set no date for the playoff of the third set. Seifert won the first set, 6-3 but Cline staged an uphill battle to take the second setto, 8-6. Bill Stair eliminated Vic Gillis, 6-2, 6-0 and Glen Penry, a seeded player, beat Wayne Ecenbarger, 6-1, 6-1.

TRIAL DATES SET IN COURT

Prisoners Indicted by Grand Jury Arraigned; Two Plead Guilty.

One man pleaded guilty and four others pleaded not guilty in common pleas court this afternoon to indictments returned by the Marion county grand jury Wednesday, while one other prisoner, indicted by the grand jury in July, changed his not guilty plea to one of guilty.

John Hopkins, indicted Wednesday for burglary, and Chester W. Daly, indicted in July for daytime burglary, pleaded guilty and each received an indeterminate sentence to Mansfield.

Changes Plea

Hopkins at first pleaded not guilty but after consultation with his attorney, L. E. Myers, changed the plea to guilty, while Daly pleaded not guilty when arraigned in July. He changed the plea today and was given a sentence immediately.

Marcellus Jenkins, against whom the grand jury this week returned two indictments for issuing a check without sufficient funds, pleaded not guilty, as did John Blue, charged with receiving stolen property; Henry Blue, charged with carrying concealed weapons, and Everett Barnhill, charged with burglary of an uninhabited dwelling.

Charles Lewis, alias Bixler, who escaped from county jail shortly before he was indicted for burglary and carrying concealed weapons, will be tried on next Friday, Sept. 19, Judge George B. Scofield informed the prisoner.

Set Trial Dates

Others who pleaded not guilty to indictments returned by the grand jury in July, as well as those who pleaded not guilty today, were given trial dates by the court. The docket is as follows:

Sept. 16, Harvey Lichtenberger, assault; Sept. 17, Chester Whitt, automobile stealing; Sept. 23, Elmer L. Ingmire, assault; Sept. 24, Hobart Hostetter, breaking and entering; Sept. 25, John Blue, receiving stolen property; Sept. 26, Milford Daly, burglary; Sept. 30, Everett Barnhill, burglary; Oct. 1, Henry Blue, carrying concealed weapons; Oct. 2, M. Jenkins, issuing check without sufficint funds (two indictments).

J. W. Jacoby is attorney for Lichtenberger, Frank Wiedemann is counsel for Whitt and John Blue, Fred W. Warner is attorney for Lewis and L. E. Myers is counsel for Ingmire. Kenneth Robinson will handle the cases of Hostetter and Henry Blue, while the law firm of Ochs & Roller will be in charge of Jenkins' case.

GALION MINISTER IS CLUB SPEAKER

Rev. Philip E. Auer Addresses Marion Kiwanians at Noon Luncheon.

An inspirational talk along the theme of the Kiwanis slogan, "Kiwanis Builds," was given the local club in its weekly luncheon at the Marion club yesterday by Rev. Phillip E. Auer of Galion.

Among qualities essential to the Kiwanian, according to Rev. Auer, are kindness, interest in the worthwhile things of life, an even temperability to keep ones self educated and modern, nerve to accomplish tasks others have declared hopeless, industry, soundness of body, broadness in respecting the other person's opinion, an undismayed attitude in the face of difficulties, ideals, leadership and stability.

Steel Merger Hearing Ends Twelfth Week

By International News Service

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 12—Technical details of steel production were placed under acute examination in common pleas court here today as opposing forces rounded out the twelfth week of trial to the injunction suit against the merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Cross-examination of W. B. Campbell, a partner in Price, Waterhouse & Company, the auditing concern which prepared the figures upon which the merger contract was based, regarding exhibits introduced by the defense, was delayed by the anti-merger attorneys pending further study of the data.

Brown After Increase in First-Class Mail Rates

By United Press

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 12—Postmaster-General Brown will urge congress at its coming session to increase first-class mail rates from two to two-and-a-half cents an ounce, which he estimates would wipe out the postal deficit that amounted to $50,000,000 last year.

In making this announcement to the National Association of Postmasters in a speech here last night, the postmaster general said an increase in other rates is not justified, and would not increase revenue as it would divert this type of mail to competing services, such as express, freight or private carriers.

UP TO HOOVER

By The Associated Press

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 12 — This republic's need for a loan to meet the emergency created by last week's hurricane will be put squarely up to President Hoover who will say finally whether or not the amount needed may be floated.

Under an agreement more than 25-years old the Dominican republic may not increase its exterior indebtedness without consent of the United States, the treaty dating back to the time when Uncle Sam, requested to intervene, arranged for consolidation and refunding of the entire Dominican debt with a customs receivership to guarantee payment.

WATERLOO, Ia. — Comes the revelation that the first lady was first lady years ago in a roller skating contest. Somebody has found in the Waterloo Courier of May 28, 1884, an item relating that Miss Lou Henry had won a beautiful silk parasol by skating twice around a hall and blowing out 10 candles in 38 seconds. Her address is now Washington, D. C.

Races Begin Saturday for Old Yachting Cup

By The Associated Press

NEWPORT, R. I. Sept. 12—Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's fifth challenger, and Enterprise, Harold S. Vanderbilt's defender, will begin tomorrow a series of races for the America's cup.

Shortly before 11 a. m. the two boats will cross the starting line nine miles southeast of Brenton Reef lightship on a 30-mile open ocean course. The first brush will be over a windward-leeward course. The two sloops will run 15 miles into the wind and run home before it.

Confidence was high aboard both sloops today. Vanderbilt has kept his crew keyed up to a high pitch and all appear jauntily certain of victory. Aboard Shamrock there is an easy atmosphere of confidence.

Bombing Splotches Up Grand Jury Investigation

By The Associated Press

Just a few hours before the inquiry was called, the family of John Valentino was blasted from sleep by a bomb explosion. His home was damaged.

Valentino, a street car company laborer, told police he had received letters threatening him with death unless he paid $5,000 to a man "who would approach him and ask for a match."

Prominent civic leaders—thirty-three of them headed by Col. A. A. Sprague—supported State's Attorney John A. Swanson, in his drive to put racketeers on the legal rack.

PARIS—What is the lure of Paris compared with the thrill of an efficient machine? Henry Ford was late, very late, arriving by motor from Cherbourg. It developed that he saw a thresher, 1830 model, at work on a farm in Normandy. He stopped to examine, admire, ask questions through his chauffeur interpreter, tell how much better a motorized 1930 model would be and offered to buy.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, Sept. 13.

ALTHOUGH there is augury for some much desired success and advancement according to the sidereal operations for this day, at the same time there is shown the menace of small disappointments, delays, treachery and slander or gossip. Correspondence or important papers or writings may be involved. But the finances are well fortified and there is promise of recognition, preferment, honors and promotion for those in the employment of others.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of favors, preferment or advancement in employment, with some gain in finances, but at the same time they are enjoined to be on guard against idle rumor, slander, treachery and anxiety or delays through papers or writings. A child born on this day should be clever and accomplished and may attain a favored place with its superiors or employers, but nevertheless may suffer through slander and idle gossip or treachery.

NEW SULPHUR MADE INTO MEDICINAL SOAP

O. S. U. Scientist Tells of Discovery; War on Hay Fever Reported.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 12—The [illegible] smell in coal gas has been converted into a medicinal soap at Ohio State university. Results of one year's experiments with this soap were reported to the medical section of the American Chemical society today by Dr. Emery P. Hayhurst, professor of [illegible].

He said the soap is made from a new kind of sulphur which was discovered a few years ago by the Koppers Research Co. while removing sulphur and other impurities from coal gas.

This sulphur resembles modernly moist clay. It differs from other sulphurs in being composed of finer particles, all of them under six ten-thousands of an inch in diameter.

Three manufacturers of plated materials informed Prof. Hayhurst that the soap appeared to cure platers rash and one concern reported that after a siege of machinists boils lasting about five years the soap eradicated them within three months.

Progress toward discovering in pollens the mysterious substances which cause hay fever was reported by Marjorie B. Moore and Edmond E. Moore of the Swan-Myers Co. of Indianapolis.

They have separated from extracts of ragweed and other pollens substances which they said appeared to contain the essence of the irritant. These substances are composed mostly of nitrogen and solids.

The Moores plans to subdivide the guilty substances still further in hopes of completely isolating the irritant.

WHY KELLOGG'S OUTSELL ALL OTHER CORN FLAKES COMBINED

That's because most people prefer the matchless Kellogg flavor and crispness.

Likewise, there's only one real reason why you should ask for Kellogg's—and that's because you'll like them better!

No other corn flakes have ever duplicated the famous Kellogg flavor. None have the same crisp, crackly flakes. No other can have the patented inner-seal waxtite wrapper that keeps Kellogg's always oven-fresh.

Prove it yourself. Try Kellogg's for breakfast. Serve them for lunch these warm days with cool milk or cream, fruits or honey added.

IMPORTANT: Some time you may be offered other corn flakes with the claim they are "just like Kellogg's"—or even that "they are made by Kellogg." Such statements are false. Kellogg makes only one brand of corn flakes. They are the most popular in the world because they are different, and better liked than any others! Look for the familiar red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

RADIO SLUMBER MUSIC

One of the best loved features in Radio—SLUMBER MUSIC—is now being broadcast nationally over Station WJZ and associate stations of the National Broadcasting Company by the Kellogg Company every Sunday night at eleven o'clock Eastern Daylight Saving Time. Enjoy it together with Kellogg's Kaffee Hag Coffee — the Coffee that lets you sleep.

WINS CUP AT RIFLE MEET

By hitting the bull's-eye 20 times at a thousand yards (more than half a mile), Sergeant Larry C. Gentner, of Grant's Pass, Oregon, (above), won the historic Wimbledon Cup which he holds in his hand. Since he used an ordinary issue service rifle, Gentner won two gold medals and a cash prize in addition to the cup for which American riflemen have contested at the national matches at Camp Perry, O., since 1874.

TOOTS AND CASPER — BY JIMMY MURPHY

I KNOW IT'S AGAINST THE RULES FOR A GIRL TO ENTER YOUR CLUB, CASPER, BUT I'M DYING TO SEE YOUR OFFICE! EVERYBODY WILL THINK I'M A BOY IN THIS SUIT-
YOU'D BETTER LEAVE THAT COMPACT HERE, TOOTS, SO YOU DON'T FORGET AND FLASH IT AT THE CLUB!
IF ANYBODY ASKS WHO YOU ARE TOOTS, I'LL SAY YOU'RE MY BROTHER!
I'D HARDLY EXPECT YOU TO SAY I'M YOUR UNCLE, CASPER!
THE CLUB IS ACROSS THE STREET, TOOTS! WHEN WE GET INSIDE JUST FOLLOW ME! WE'LL WALK DIRECTLY TO MY OFFICE! DON'T SPEAK TO ANYONE IF IT CAN BE AVOIDED!
I'M A FINE PRESIDENT - I'M PLEDGED TO ENFORCE THE RULES OF THE CLUB AND HERE I AM BREAKING ONE ALREADY!

Industrial Stocks Show Strong Tone While Wheat and Commodities Slump.

By International News Service
BY W. S. COUSINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—Industrial stocks displayed a strong tone today in spite of the fresh declines in the wheat and commodity markets and the lack of evidence to support the imminence of the business recovery. Though spectacular performances were lacking, and many of the best known shares slipped off easily at times, the bears were up against a stone wall in all of their efforts to force down the general level of prices. Professionals pigs specialties and the rails, industrials stocks and the miscellaneous stocks when wheat tumbled again to 81 cents a bushel and distress signals were hung over a number of the well-konwn commodity markets. Case Threshing dropped off about 8 points to 174, but the turnover was small and the rally restored a good part of the loss.

A 2% increase in the storage supplies of refined copper since the first of August was not good news for the copper industry, and prices of the red metal, as well as leading copper stocks, were influenced to sag. The motor stocks were also under mild pressure, General Motors backing up to 44¾, against Tuesday's high price at 47. Amusement stocks lost ground under persistent selling in the forenoon, but recovery here was also prompt and effective.

THREE DETOURS ON HARDING HIGHWAYS

Bucyrus Route to Mansfield Suggested by Auto Club Here.

An additional detour on route 30, the Harding highway, between Marion and Mansfield is now in effect, according to the state highway detour bulletin received today by the Marion Auto club.

The new detour is located on route 30 for a distance of four miles south of Galion.

Since two other detours exist on route 30 between Marion and Mansfield, the Auto club suggests that eastbound motorists take route 4 from Marion to Bucyrus and route 5 east from Bucyrus to Mansfield, thereby avoiding any detours.

The Harding Highway detour from Marion east to route 98 is now the only state highway detour in Marion county, the map shows.

READY FOR ASCENT

By International News Service

AUGSBURG, Germany, Sept. 12—Professor Piccard, encouraged by brightening weather prospects, announced today he would probably start his balloon ascent to an attempted height of 50,000 feet early tomorrow. Previously, the scientist declared he would postpone his attempt for some days because of inclement weather.

It is easy enough to see that your dog resents your changing his name.

Today in Marion Market

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Marion markets were quiet this morning, with the exception of a slight variation in egg prices. A majority of markets were quoting eggs at 32 to 38 cents a dozen this morning, a cent higher than earlier figures this week.

Fruit and vegetable circles were undisturbed by price changes today. A fair supply of nearly every popular fruit and vegetable here has now found its way to normal prices, and little activity is expected before some of these fresh-grown items begin to disappear.

A good portion of fresh vegtables marketed here is coming from Marion county truck farms at present.

WHEAT PRICES STILL DROPPING

Weakness at Liverpool Drops Market to 81 Cents a Bushel.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 12—Weakness of quotations at Liverpool forced Chicago wheat prices lower at the start of trading today. Liverpool prices were down sharply, because Russia has renewed offers of cheap wheat. Prices here dropped to new lows for the season for the deferred deliveries on the break and the September delivery sold as low as 81 cents a bushel. Stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down. Buying against bids and on resting orders checked the decline. General selling was on in corn with support lacking. Wheat broke sharply at the opening. Initial sales being ¾@1¼ under yesterday's finish. Corn was also down at ½@1¼ lower than the final quotations yesterday.

Wheat was less active after the early flurry of selling. Buying against indemnities and on resting orders with commission house purchasing in small lots resulted in a moderate rally. Selling was of lighter volume than has been the rule, with no large blocks offered. The seaboard again reported export demand as light with sales mostly of Canadian wheat. Weakness at Liverpool attributed to a renewal of Russian offerings caused considerable hedging there and this gave the Chicago market a weak start.

British importers were reported to be offering wheat at prices below replacement costs, but this condition was not expected to last long because stocks were becoming depleted. Australia was said to be pressing sales at low prices with excellent prospects for the new crop. The acreage there was expected to show an increase of 2,500,000 acres this year buying against bids and some sales to commission houses gave corn a moderate upward boost. Trade remained light. Oats sagged a little with wheat.

Provisions were generally steady to weak.

U. S. Bonds

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—Sales of government bonds during the first half of the trading session today was restricted to Liberty fourth 4¼s, selling at 103.

11 OF U. S. SENATE MEMBERS ELIMINATED

Change in Legislative Roll To Be One of Greatest in Recent Years.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Resignations and defeats in the primaries already have eliminated 11 of the 35 members of the senate who were up for reelection this year, assuring one of the greatest changes in the senate make-up of recent years.

It has been a hard season on the incumbents, regardless of party affiliations. Southern Democrats already have rejected three senators for renomination and forced a fourth—Thomas J. Heflin of Alabama—to run as an independent.

Those senators who have weathered the primary battles in most instances are fighting for their political lives in the forthcoming election. The assault on the office holders does not seem to have affected the house members so much, although the primaries have shown considerable reaction against house incumbents.

Five Voted Out

Of the 11 senators who retire after the next election, five were defeated for renomination and six declined to run again. Those who have been defeated for the party nomination are:

Republicans, Deenen of Illinois and Grundy of Pennsylvania.

Democrats, Simmons of North Carolina, Blease of South Carolina, and Ransdell of Louisiana.

The following six Republican senators declined to run for reelection—Baird of New Jersey, Gillett of Massachusetts, Goff of West Virginia, Gould of Maine, Phipps of Colorado; and Sullivan of Wyoming. Senator Brock, Democrat of Tennessee, also will retire, but he is running for election to complete the short unexpired term of the late Senator Tyson.

Among prominent senators who have beaten down opposition are Senators Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader; Norris of Nebraska, Republican independent; Couzens, Republican of Michigan, and Sheppard, Democrat of Texas. Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, is up for reelection this year but has encountered no difficulties.

Control Problematical

Whether the Republicans or Democrats will control the next senate is still to be determined. Republicans now have 56 of the 96 members, the Democrats 39 and the Farmer-Labor one.

Of the senate seats involved in the election this year, 22 are held by Republicans and 13 by Democrats. Thus, the odds are against the Republicans, but whether the Democrats can overturn sufficient incumbents to get the majority is problematical. They are making the claim only of a "fifty-fifty" chance.

Knights of Pythias Lodges Plan Picnic

The third annual joint picnic of Canby and Marion lodges of Knights of Pythias will be Sunday at Sugar Grove lake. Members have been urged to attend with their families.

Athletic events, ball games and other forms of recreation and amusement have been planned by the committees in charge. A bus has been chartered to transport all those members who have no way to get to the picnic grounds. L. C. Meddles and Vern H. Barnhill are in charge of transportation.

A basket dinner will be served at noon.

None of us is entirely what we seem—and an excellent thing that is.

There are those who do not care enough for anybody to be jealous of them.

COURT CASE AGAINST THEATER DISMISSED

Action To Foreclose Mortgage on Palace Building Thrown Out by Judge.

The $150,000 foreclosure action started in July against the Young Amusement Co. of Indiana, owners of the Palace theatre building, was dismissed at costs of the plaintiffs yesterday in common pleas court.

The plaintiffs were Katharine B. Copeland and Alice K. Copeland Quinn, who hold 30 notes of $5,000 each against the company, on which they claimed in their petition that none of the principal had ever been paid. They also alleged violation of the mortgage which they claimed resulted when the theater made several changes while installing "talkie" equipment.

Demurrers to the petition were filed this week by attorneys for the Young Amusement Co. and the Indiana-Ohio Theatre Corp., lessee of the building, in which both claimed the petition contained errors as well as insufficient cause for the action.

John H. Bartram was attorney for the Young Amusement Co. and the law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant represented the Indiana-Ohio Theatre Corp. The plaintiffs were represented by James & Coolidge of Dayton.
